Dear PCES members and friends,

The Fullerton Student Grant, created from funds generously donated by Stuart M. Fullerton, a longtime member and supporter of PCES and the California Academy of Sciences, provides one-year student memberships in the Pacific Coast Entomological Society. It is available to students who have an interest in entomology and related fields. It is especially intended to encourage high school and junior college level students in the field of entomology but undergraduates and graduates are also encouraged to apply. Please help us broadcast this information to those who might benefit from the grant.

To qualify, the student must have never been a member of PCES and must provide proof of current full-time enrollment at a school or university (i.e., photocopy of student ID or letter from teacher). Please use the membership application form from our newsletter as an application or download it from our website: www.pcentsoc.org. Indicate that it is for the Fullerton Student Grant, and send the application to me. Thanks.

Yours sincerely,

Vincent Lee, Managing Secretary
